

Mrs Ann-Marie Cowperthwaite

Ann-Marie is a Chartered Structural and Civil Engineer with an extensive background in project management and engineering on a large variety of award winning and major buildings and infrastructure projects across the United Kingdom and Channel Isles.

She is currently the Whitehaven Office Leader for Arup, a global engineering advisory company. Her recent projects encompass masterplanning, regeneration, and land reclamation, to tidal, and offshore energy projects and government funded creative legacy projects. She moved up from London 20 years ago to raise her family in the wonderful fresh air and magnificent natural beauty of the Lake District, and revels in fellrunning and lake swimming accompanied by her mad cocker spaniel.
